

Please join Blue Ocean Strategic Capital, LLC for an Educational Seminar...

Long-term Care Insurance Options and Non-Insurance Alternatives

What is long-term care?

Long-term care includes a range of personal-care services that extend beyond traditional medical care. The term for this is "custodial care," meaning services that help with everyday living activities. It helps you maintain your quality of life and perform everyday activities should age, illness, injury or cognitive impairment make it difficult for you to take care of yourself. While most Americans don't believe they'll need long term care, in reality, 70% of those turning age 65 can expect to use some form of long-term care during their lives¹

What Are Activities of Daily Living (ADLs)?

Is Alzheimer's disease included?

How do I plan for and cover the cost of care?

It's important to remember that long-term care needs can take a lot of different forms—and so can the financial options available to cover the costs. Having a plan in place to help cover your long-term care needs is the key to preserving your lifestyle and keeping your financial legacy intact. That's why it makes sense to start planning for long-term care now...before you need it.

Does Medicare or Medicaid cover the cost?

Can I stay in my home? Can I protect my assets?

For those concerned about the possibility of needing and paying for long-term care at some point in the future, this may be the best 1.5 hours you could spend.

Andrew Meyer, Chartered Life Underwriter and NYS Licensed Consultant, will present in conjunction with Marie Norkett, CFP from Blue Ocean Strategic Capital, LLC.

Wednesday November 29, 2017

in the main conference room of Blue Ocean Strategic Capital, LLC

5:30 Light hors d'oeuvres

6:00 Presentation begins

Seating is limited. Please RSVP by November 22nd with Jennifer at 315-471-2672 or jls@boscllc.com.

¹ US Department of Health and Human Services, 2015
